Confederation and Representation.

When we penned a brief article a few days ago in favor of having some competent person at Ottawa to represent the Colony's interests there, we little imagined that our Government had been beforehand in the representative business, and had dispatched a person to look after its own interests at the Seat of Government of the Dominion. It would appear that the principal object of Mr Birch's visit to the East was to wait upon the Governor General of Canada with a view, if possible, of retarding the consummation of the scheme of Confederation and insuring a continuance for an indefinite period of the present one-man system of government with which we are now so grievously afflicted.

We are therefore not surprised to learn that after an interview had taken place between the youthful secretary and Lord Monck, the latter "expressed himself as of opinion that Confederation is impracticable for some years, at least." Indeed, our only surprise is that his lordship did not tell Mr Birch almost in as many words that the Dominion does not desire British Columbia on any terms. It is some comfort to know that; and it is equally comfortable to reflect that notwithstanding the noble lord's opinion, his cabinet do not share it. The Ministry, not Lord Monck, shape the policy of the government, and a majority of the ministers, at least, are in favor of our immediate Confederation upon advantageous terms. Were Lord Monck's ministry composed of men possessed of little or no colonial experience and knowledge, we might well despair of being admitted to the family circle of the Dominion during the lifetime of the youngest man among us; but, fortunately for us, they are men who have been raised in the Eastern Provinces, who have risen from the ranks of the people to their present high position, and who understand the importance of fostering, encouraging and supporting, if necessary, a young and struggling Colony like ours. With Lord Monck and Downing Street Mr Birch will be quite an oracle. He will be quoted as an authority on all points relating to the standing and condition of the Pacific Colony; the best location for the capital; the form of Government suited to the wants of the country, and the customs, manners and habits of the people. But with the Canadian Ministers he will be lost. His "colonial experience" will pass for no more than it is worth with a Cabinet composed of such master minds as Macdonald, Cartier, Galt, Tilley and the other great men of the Dominion. "His measure will be taken," and his "advice" will be unheeded. It is not, therefore, because we fear that Mr Birch can or will damage the cause of Confederation at Ottawa (he might have saved himself the trouble and the Colony the expense of going there for all the good he will do his "friends") that we ask for an unpaid representative at Ottawa; but it is because we wish the Ministry to understand that the people of British Columbia are in favor of the Union—that they are ready and willing to join upon certain terms and conditions, foremost among which will be a new Governor, a new Ministry, Responsible Government, and (although we would not have it urged as a sine qua non) Reciprocity of Trade with the United States. Now that we know the Government to be represented at Ottawa by a paid delegate—why should not the Colony have its unpaid representative there—a man whose interests being all centered here would have the greatest possible incentive to look well after ours. If there is no impropriety in the Colonial Secretary going there to represent the interests of his Government, why should there be any impropriety in a private individual being present to represent the people? We put forward these suggestions in the hope that steps will be taken to convene a public meeting, by which authority may be delegated to some person—we care not who—to act for us. In the last number of the Examiner the editor objects to Confederation because he is afraid Mr De Cosmo will be made Lieutenant Governor. Our cotemporary may withdraw his objection—his fear is groundless. Mr DeCosmo—though no favorite or friend of ours—we will do the justice to say would be head-and-shoulders above the present incumbent of the gubernatorial chair; but he stands about as much chance of being appointed Lieutenant Governor as the editor of the Examiner does of being nominated to a vacant chair in one of the Universiti es.

The Divining Rod—The Practical Experience of a Medium in Quartz Mining.

EDITORS JOURNAL OF MINING:—Gentlemen—Your remarks (in a late issue of the Journal of Mining) concerning a work on the subject of the "witch-hazel," has led me to address you on the subject.

While operating in mining in Colorado, a few years since, I was led into the mysteries of the "witch-hazel." Previous to that, I was as great a skeptic as any one in regard to it, but my senses of sight and feeling (as fate has ordained me one of the mediums) were too severely worked upon to remain any longer a doubter on the subject. At that time I tested its operations in every way, and was fully satisfied that it was a reality. For the past five months I have been operating in mining at Madoc, C. W., and have continued my experiments with the forked stick (not with the "hazel" alone, as I find most young wood will produce the same effect.) In April last I selected a spot where the stick indicated a vein running northeast and southwest, and set my men to work, (where there were no surface indications of a "crevise.") After excavating a few feet, the crevise became very clearly defined, showing two regular walls, about four feet apart, with the vein running perpendicular. By continued experiments when the shaft had reached the depth of nine feet, I found (by the use of the stick) that there was a "lode" running northwest and southeast, crossing the vein we were working, about two feet from the northeast end of our shaft. Immediately directed the men to open the shaft six feet longer in that direction, so as to develop the two veins with the one shaft. This experiment proved the stick had not deceived me, as the "hanging wall" of a northwest and southeast vein, dipping to the northeast, was exposed, showing, as I expected, another well defined "lode." I experimented with this mystery continually, and I am satisfied that it has never yet deceived me, and I venture to say that I can trace any quartz vein as fast as I can walk, taking a Virginia fence course, on the surface. Its operations are singular and worthy of a thorough examination. By walking directly over and in line with the vein, the stick is not affected, but the least deviation to either side, causes it to bend towards the person carrying it; or crossing a vein causes it to turn. Another peculiar feature is, that a coin placed in a slit, cut in the point of the fork, appears to break the connection, and its operation ceases. These are facts and as I intend to return to the Madoc mines in the early part of September, I shall be perfectly willing to prove them to any one who will undertake to fathom the mystery. My theory is that it is caused by a current of electricity passing up from the bowels of the earth, through these crevices, and diffusing itself through the atmosphere. As many use the "hazel" to discover water, oil, etc., it may be that electricity is carried by them; or, again, water and oil would more likely be found in or over a crevise, than in or on the solid rock. The operations of the stick, if properly understood, will save a large amount of time and money, expended in various places; in stripping the rocks of the surface soil, to discover a crevise; and in many instances of shafts being sunk, in blind groping for a crevise in the rocks, where the forked stick would have pointed it out in a few moments, without trouble or expense. It is time this puritanical stigma of witchery, was trampled under foot, and science assume the mastery. I would urge upon you the importance of this matter, and would be pleased to render any assistance in my power towards its development. I do not claim any scientific attainments. My information has been gathered from practical experience in quartz mining.

THE GRAND PROMOTERS OF HEALTH.HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

The grand secret of attaining happiness is to secure good health, without which life is stripped of its pleasure. The grand secret of health is to be kept in the body, and rightly appropriate doses of the fine purifying Pills, which strengthen the system by thoroughly cleansing the blood from all impurities. They balance disordered action, remove the cause of disturbance and restore its normal and natural power to every organ, without inconvenience, pain or any other drawback.

Determination of the Bowels, Liver and Stomach Complaints.

This medicine is so well known in every part of the world, and the cures effected by its use are so wonderful as to astonish every one. It pre-emerges as a remedy for bilious and nervous complaints, and is equally efficacious in the cure of the liver and bowels, and is no longer a remedy of slight or doubtful value. In these diseases the bowel effects of Holloway's famous Pills are so permanent and extensive that the whole system is renovated, the organs of digestion strengthened, and full and easy assimilation promoted, so that both physical and moral energies are increased.

Determination of Blood to the Head.

This is generally occasioned by some irregularity of stomach and bowels, which, if not quickly attended to, frequently terminates fatally. A few doses of the famous Pill never fail to give tone to the stomach regularity to the secretions, and purity to the fluids. Virtuous dimness of sight and other indications of approaching apoplexy, are inily dissipated by a course of this medicinal and all skin Diseases.

For all skin-diseases, however inveterate, these medicines are sovereign remedy. While the Pill act upon the blood, which they purify, the impurity passes through the pores of the skin, and cleanses every structure, as water saturates the soil or salt penetrates meat.

Coughs, Colds and Asthma.

No medicine will cure colds of long duration or such as are settled upon the chest so quickly as these famous Pills. Even in cases where the first stage of asthma has appeared these Pills may be relied upon as a certain and never failing remedy, particularly if the patient be continually rubbed well rubbed in the chest and throat night and morning.

Indigestion—Billious Headache.

These complaints may sometimes be considered trifling, but it should be borne in mind that by inattention and neglect, they often end most seriously. Give early thought to the proper play of the bowels, and the disease will be removed.

Conveyances of every description, at one reasonable rate.
